

Lev Karatun

Teaching assistant and PhD candidate

lev.karatun@gmail.com

647-964-2973

Toronto, Canada

github.com/lkaratun

5 years of experience teaching students. Strong knowledge of algorithms and data structures.

WORK EXPERIENCE

Teaching Assistant University of Toronto

09/2013 – Present

Toronto, Canada

Responsibilities

- Courses taught: CSC148 (6 times), CSC108, CSC180, CSCA20
- Presenting course material during tutorials
- Helping students in practicals and office hours
- Marking assignments and exams

Information systems engineer CROC Inc.

10/2012 – 08/2013

Moscow, Russia

Responsibilities

- Installed, configured and supported IBM and Oracle middle-ware applications, Linux servers, and E-Commerce systems

Application support specialist Raiffeisenbank JSC.

06/2010 – 09/2012

Moscow, Russia

Responsibilities

- Administration and user support of automated unsecured lending system
- Troubleshooting, bug tracking, system updates installation

EDUCATION

Ph.D. candidate University of Toronto

09/2013 – Present

Specialization

- Numerical modelling in geology

B.Sc and M.Sc degrees Moscow State University

09/2004 – 06/2011

Specialization

- Computer technologies in geology

SKILLS

Python

JavaScript

node.js

HTML/CSS

React

C++

SQL

Functional programming

OOP

Testing

Time complexity analysis

AWARDS

Laurence Curtis Teaching Assistance Award (2016)

Awarded annually to the most outstanding
Teaching Assistants in the Department of Earth
Sciences